

To keep out sprint on the schedule we made sure that each teammate was assigned their task along with its due date. Because we had the experience of previous sprints we were able to finish all of the tasks on time without any delays. This was done through through starting and assigning work on time. The whole team also worked together to finish MJAAR-93 which allowed us to complete a hard spike. The planning for this sprint was essential for us to finish everything on time